

Building a Business: What does it take?

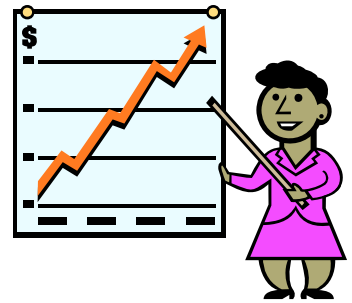

Have you noticed when you walk into some stores or restaurants that some are more crowded than others? Did you ever wonder what happens to the bodegas when large companies or new housing complexes move into the neighborhood? Mayor Healy thinks that these booming areas need more goods and services to offer to the new residents.

You have been chosen to open a business within your neighborhood. Your task is to create a presentation that will demonstrate an understanding of:

- The factor of production
- Supply and demand
- Advertising
- The labor market
- The role of the government in regulating (or promoting) the production and consumption of this particular good or services.

Working in groups of three, you will create a poster presentation that focuses on the targeted questions dealing with production, consumption, and regulation of the business you have opened.
