

Power Up Planning Week!

Fuel Your Faculty with Tools & Strategies for Student Success

Targeted virtual sessions designed to help your faculty to start the year strong!

Team IDE is offering remote live PD sessions during Teacher Planning Week!

You select:

- the planning week date & timeframe for each session; full- and half-days can be broken into sessions of your choice
- topics from the offerings below
- the virtual venue: Meet, Teams, or Zoom

We provide:

- targeted interactive sessions
- downloadable resources
- consultant insights and Q&A

Full virtual day: $2275

Half virtual day: $1138

Building Executive Function for Student Achievement	Tools for Active Teaching	Promoting Deeper Learning Through Questioning
Focus on grade-level appropriate executive function skills that enhance student achievement through targeted strategies, structures, and activities.	Explore tools to modify and use to promote student engagement with content and participation in the learning process, including: how-to sheets, protocols, norms, group-capture sheets, graphic organizers, and more.	Design facilitation questions for your content on five levels, from comprehension to metacognition in order to build greater understanding and application of learning.
The Executive Function - Mental Health Connection	Progress Monitoring through Facilitation Grids	Supporting English Language Learners in the Content Areas
Promote students' mental wellness through nine executive function skills that can make a difference by building them into your instructional program.	Learn to use facilitation grids to capture student progress data as you observe and facilitate learning, and use that data to modify instructional approaches for the next day or week.	Beyond ESL instruction, your ELLs need to be supported in understanding content instruction. Gain actionable strategies for making content more accessible to ELLs.

Contact Us to Reserve Your Session Date - Nik Koch

1-833-465-2842 | nkoch@idecorp.com | 973-615-3842 (direct)

